EXCELA HEALTH, WESTMORELAND/FRICK FOUNDATION PRESENT BLACK TIE FOR HOPE CASINO NIGHT TO BENEFIT CANCER CARE

GREENSBURG, PA, February 20, 2019 ... This year's signature fund-raising event hosted by Westmoreland/Frick Hospital Foundation also raises hope for patients in need of cancer care. Join Excelsa Health and the foundation as they present Black Tie for Hope, a Casino Night, 6 p.m., Saturday, March 30, Greensburg Country Club, 309 Pleasant Valley Road, Jeannette, to benefit state-of-the-art oncology services for the community.

Among the evening's special guests are Stephen Cropper, WPXI Chief Meteorologist, who is forecasting a stellar evening for guests. Attendees will enjoy sumptuous food and rousing games of chance with players competing for prizes based on the evening's winnings, while proceeds are earmarked for upgrades in technology and services needed in the diagnosis and treatment of cancer.

Cost is $200 per person. Sponsorship opportunities begin at $1,000 and include admission tickets and a private VIP reception featuring Phil Bourque, former Pittsburgh Penguins hockey player and color commentator for Penguins radio broadcasts alongside Mike Lange.

Bourque's hope is that this event is a real barn burner, and that patrons include play at a life-size Operation game as part of their personal hat trick during the evening.

To register online, visit Excelsa Health.org and search Black Tie. For reservations, or to inquire about sponsorship opportunities contact the Westmoreland Hospital/Frick Foundation, 724-832-4140. Reservations requested by March 8 as seating is limited.
